RADIO PROBLEMS BEING DISCUSSED

WASHINGTON CON. TODAY SEEK SOLUTION OF PROBLEMS

HOOVER NAMES REMEDIES

Scrapping of Much Equipment Will Be Necessary Unless Relief Is Obtained

Washington, March 20—The wave length and power allocations by which radio interference would be reduced to a minimum, was submitted by a committee today, the Secretary of Commerce, Herbert S. Hoover, by W. D. Terrell, chief radio inspector of the radio division of the Commerce Department.

The recommendations were agreed upon by radio experts after an extensive conference with authorities on radio, and representatives of the war and navy departments.

Washington, March 20—Radio experts of the United States gathered in Washington today, at the invitation of Secretary of Commerce Hoover, to take action regarded as necessary to save the industry from hopeless chaos.

Unless radical action for a regulation of broadcasting is taken immediately 600 sending stations in the United States will be rendered practically useless, officials agreed.

As a remedy the establishment of new wave lengths, zoning of the country and fixed time limits for broadcasting from the various station were advocated.

The conference, known as the Interdepartment Advisory Committee on Government Radio Broadcasting, was augmented by representatives from the more important broadcasting stations, who agreed upon a programme of co-operation.

Failure of Congress to pass radio regulatory legislation, placing control of broadcasting and other features of the industry in the hands of the Secretary of Commerce, has made it necessary for Government and private agencies to voluntarily submit to an informal directorship.

Interference with messages flashed from the hundreds of stations in the United States, speakers declared, is making it more and more difficult for the 2,500,000 receiving stations to get satisfactory service. Weather reports, the stock markets, public health bulletins, the United States Navy Band, jazz from Broadway, and a talk on "Why Girls Go Wrong," from Reno, are likely to be on the programme of a single evening's entertainment—unfortunately jumbled together.

Secretary Hoover proposed to keep the most popular programmes of the broadcasting stations available for the amateur receivers by maintaining these stations at the conventional wave lengths.

Other broadcasting stations which have a special appeal, such as the stock markets and educationl messages, would be given a higher wave length. Receiving stations desiring this service could be tuned accordingly, it was pointed out.

It was admitted a general rearrangement of wave lengths would make necessary the scrapping of hundreds of receiving sets, and necessity of a systematic readjustment was therefore pointed out.

The conference hoped to accomplish a programme of temporary relief until the next Congress, when renewed pressure will be brought to bear for remedial legislation.

Last July the Interdepartment Committee met to discuss legislation to be proposed to Congress and the interference problem. Since that time the amount of interference has increased greatly, and the problem has assumed proportions of a serious menace.

Governmental departments represented by radio experts included Agriculture, Commerce, Interior, Justice, Labor, Navy, Post Office, State Treasury, War, the United States Shipping Board and the Bureau of the Budget.

Before adjournment it was expected recommendations would be adopted as to broadcasting, wave lengths, receiving stations and other matters pertaining to government radio regulation.

Good-Bye to Winter Weather for Spring Arrives Tomorrow

Winter weather is almost gone. The weather man may put out more snow, sleet and cold weather, but if it doesn't come by midnight tonight it won't be winter weather. Technically it will have to be called spring weather for tomorrow is the first day of spring. March 21 marks the dividing point between the two seasons but so often the characteristic weather of each gets mixed up and comes in the wrong season.

But the winter weary folk will heave a sigh of relief tomorrow, greater than they did when the ground hog failed to see his shadow, and strengthen their hopes of balmy, spring weather by planning their gardens and other spring work on paper, bidding time until it can actually be done.

M. H. S. Girl Cagers Challenge the Boys

Spectacular Game Will Be Staged Tomorrow Afternoon At High School Gym

The high school girls basketball team, and the high school boys basketball team will meet in mortal combat tomorrow afternoon, at the high school gym. The game will probably take place at three o'clock, and the admission will be fifteen cents. The money will go into the treasury of the high school annual, "The Maryvillian."

Several weeks ago, Mildred New, captain of the girls team, challenged Orin Masters, captain of the boys team, to a game. The challenge was accepted. The game is to be played according to the rulings for girl's basketball. This style of play will be somewhat unfamiliar to the boys, which will make the game all the more interesting. This final game of the season is now and out of the ordinary, and promises to attract a good crowd of fans.

ELEEMOSYNARY BILL PASSED BY SENATE

STATE INSTITUTIONS ARE GIVEN $1,607,800.

INCREASES ARE SMALL

Appropriation About the Same as 1921 —Senate Adds Few Amendments.

Jefferson City, March 20.—The first of the big appropriation bills to pass the senate went over last night. This was the eleemosynary bill carrying amendments to it by the senate totalling $45,500 bringing the total to $1,607,800. This sum is approximately what was given to the six eleemosynary institutions in 1921. This provides for salaries, contingent and office expenses and the like. The amounts added by the senate to the bill amendments on the floor were:

Fifteen thousand dollars to enlarge the coal storage plant at the Mount Vernon state sanatorium. Eight thousand dollars was added for vocational theraphy at Mount Vernon. Other items included $25,000 for additional vocational theraphy at the state hospital at Fulton.

The totals for the institutions are: State Hospital No. 1, at Fulton, $224,000; state hospital No. 2 at St. Joseph, $157,000; state hospital No. 3 at Nevada, $159,120; state hospital No. 4 at Farmington, $187,000; Missouri colony for feeble-minded and epileptic at Marshall, $516,000; for salaries and support of the state eleemosynary board for the biennial period $56,000. The sanitorium at Mt. Vernon was given $294,800.

Senator Brunk asked for additional amount for Mt. Vernon, explaining that new buildings to be opened there soon would increase the number of patients by one-third and upon the strength of his recommendation, additional money was appropriated to care for them.

Senator Brookshire said at Farmington that the house appropriation of $35,000 for coal storage plant was not adequate and the senate added $15,000 upon his recommendation. The two other new buildings for the eleemosynary institutions are two cottages at the Marshall colony for feeble-minded for a total of $160,000.

"GREEN PASTUREITIS"

Roger Babson, the noted statistician, notes in a recent article, that one of the great troubles with boys today, is "green pastureitis." To one afflicted with this disease "the pasture farthest away always looks the greenest." There are boys who think the farther away from home they go, the more prosperous they will be. Mr. Babson thinks that most boys are better off to remain in their home town than to go to large cities.

On general principles a young man does better in his home section than elsewhere. There he understands the people and the people understand him. If he goes off and settles in some entirely different part of the country, he fails to some extent to understand the habits and ideas of the people. They often fail to understand his ways and ideas. There are opportunities everywhere for those who can see and grasp them. It sometimes does a boy good to get out among cold blooded strangers and brings out the metal in him and it may make a better business man of him when he does get back home.

MUSCLE AND BRAINS

Some people complain in these times that muscle is better rewarded than education. The clerk or bookkeeper finds that he gets less pay than the fellow who does plumbing or bricklaying.

The stenographer, after she has paid for her board and room, may not have as much cash left as the housework girl can show. Teachers are generally not as well paid as mechanics. It is a period when mechanical and muscular labor is valued beyond many grades of work for which a certain degree of education is required.

Wages and salaries are governed by supply and demand. If the manual and mechanical trades are unpopular, higher wages will have to be paid to induce people to enter those ocupations.

If the girls all rush to school to learn stenography and bookkeeping, and few of them are willing to wash dishes and sweep floors, it is probable that the wages paid for those domestic tasks will be higher than for a person of fair intelligence to get a superficial education. The community provides these facilities free, and almost anybody can be taught to do clerical tasks in a routine way. Many boys seem to feel that the "white collar jobs" are easier and more attractive than taking hold of the world's hard and dirty work. If they are not training their brains so they can show independent initiative and think things out for themselves the white collar job is not likely to be very lucrative.

Superficial education gets one but a short distance in life. If one is to be a brain worker, he will have to do some real thinking and show some originality if his work is to pay better than mechanical tasks in these times. In other words there is still room and money at the top.

Some people have
Such weak optics that
They can't tell the Truth when they see it.

He is wise who is buying his garden seed now before the assortment is all picked over. However he can rest assured that the seed he picks will be picked over by the birds later.

The best thing we can say of some of the radio concerts we have listened to is that there is no chance for an encore.

We would think time would be dead soon, considering the way some Maryville men are killing it.

Our stenographer says she is going to go in for King Tut styles in every respect. Yesterday we announced that she had a doll named after the ancient petentate now she is seeking a dressmaker to give an Egyptian effect to the gown she is planning. We can stand for the Egyptian styles but let us hope they don't introduce any Egyptian movements into the dances.

Women are funny, a bachelor observed to us the other day. He says they delight in telling the world how they bear their crosses in silence.

Uncle Abner says like the poor, the rich we will always have with us.

No matter how blind a man may be he can always see where some other fellow did wrong.

We saw several unmistakable signs of spring the other day. They read "wet paint." No they were not on girls but on street buildings.

The knowledge of a lot of local girls is limited to the talking machine

Despite the fashion doctors we can't see that the skirts are being lengthened very much in Maryville.

"Us men" can breathe easy again. A New York prosecutor says juries have stopped acquiting a woman who shot a man just because she is pretty. This also should be bad news for the revolver makers.

We have been expecting to hear of some parents in Maryville naming their new arrival after Old King Tut. Perhaps the men who name the sleeping cars, cigars and race horses will make use of the name.

"An aching void" we might quote when some people say they have a head ache.

No matter how gallant a man may be to his wife she never notices he has that trait until she sees him being polite to some other woman.

Not so long ago when we heard Bermuda mentioned we thought of onions. Now we think of bootleggers.

Have you ever noticed that a woman who is as jealous as they make them always tells you she is not jealous.

We are hearing all kinds of spring signs these days a lot of which are foolish but we are glad to hear them notwithstanding.

It seems that when the average man is about to make the ends meet some one cuts off a piece of the string.

Vagrant Musings

Many a woman considers the male she married the light of her life until she has to light on him for something he has done.

With the average wife the husband's sins of omission are greater than those of commission.

The photographer seldom means it when he says "look natural" because if the average individual did he would not accept the pictures.

It will not be so very long again until the creak of the porch swing is heard again.

We are grateful to spring for evrything but the crop of spring poets.

The Awful Truth

Why complain if the girls indulge in a lot of petting? They better get what they can of it before they are married.

Wesley Barry in "Rags to Riches"

Freckled, inimitable Wes will be remembered by all who saw him in "School Days." He typifies the unconquerable spirit of youth and its adventurous strain, which he always succeeds in communicating to his audience.

"Rags to Riches," adapted from Charles A. Taylor's celebrated stage play, centers about young Marmaduke Clarke, a wealthy little child, who frets under the artificial formality of his home, and pines for a little action. He gets his chance upon discovering a burglar in the house. When the second-story artist escapes Marmaduke pursues him and becomes his pal. Then the two roam through the country, while a gang of desperate crooks shadow them for the tempting reward offered for Marmaduke. How the lad helps to corral the crooks makes for a climax which is exciting and refreshing.

AVERAGE FEBRUARY WEATHER ABOUT SAME AS JANUARY

As a rule the average temperature for February differs only slightly from that of January, according to records of the Weather Bureau, United States Department of Agriculture.

Cold waves frequently sweep down from the British northwest during this month and sometimes bring extremely cold weather. During the memorable wave of February, 1889, the zero temperature line was carried southward to some localities along the east Gulf coast. Twenty-five degrees below zero have been recorded during this month as far south as Kansas and Missouri. However, toward the latter part of February there is usually a noticeable warming up, particularly in the Southern States; along the immediate Gulf coast killing frost does not occur as a rule after the 20th of the month.

Throughout the Plains States and at the lower elevations of the Rocky Mountain and Plateau regions precipitation usually continues light in amount, the average for February ranging from 0.5 to 1 inch, occurring usually in the form of snow. In the Pacific Coast States the rainy season continues during February, but the amounts are somewhat smaller than in January in the northern portion of the region and considerably smaller in the central and southern portions.

Precipitation is infrequent during February between the Mississippi River and the Rocky Mountains, the average number of days with 0.01 inch or more ranging from less than 3 to about 6. It is rather frequent in the northeast, especially in the eastern Lake region, where precipitation occurs on about 12 days of the month, while along the extreme northern Pacific coast two-thirds of the days, on the average, have rainfall.

South Fruit Crop Is Badly Damaged

Atlanta, Ga., March 20—Considerable damage to the fruit crop in the southern states is feared following the cold weather that has gripped this section during the past twenty-four hours.

In middle Georgia, Alabama and South Carolina, except in the costal section, a total loss will be sustained, agriculturalists declared.

School And Community Magazine Writes of Nodaway County Film

The March issue of School and Community, the monthly magazine of the Missouri State Teachers' Association, carries a four page story of the Nodaway County school film, "And the Truth Shall Make You Free." The article is well illustrated with strips of film, showing different phases of work, down the sides of the pages. The following is a portion of the story:

Carved in stone, above the main entrance to the Northwest Missouri State Teachers College at Maryville are these words, "And the Truth Shall Make You Free." No other words, it seems, so well epitomize the purpose of the American teacher or the real reason for the public school. Woven into the very warp and woof of our national history and ideals is Freedom—and the source of all freedom is Truth. The Truth about man's relation to his fellow man has given to him all the freedom that he enjoys in government; Truth as it bears upon health and the laws of life have given him a degree of freedom from the ravages of disease; the Truth of natural science has caused him to enjoy a greater freedom from the limitations of space than could have possibly been his without this scientific Truth. It is the peculiar province of the school to disseminate the Truth that makes us free. By the work of the school, and by no other means, is it possible to make this Truth the common property of all men and this freedom their common heritage. Only by the larger development of the school is it possible to extend this Truth and thus enjoy a greater measure of freedom.

These words of the Great Teacher have become a principle in the lives of many of the folk of Maryville and Nodaway County. Consequently, they believe in working for the development of the schools, and are persuaded that the way to encourage the development of the best is to put the truth regarding them before the people. Hence, the moving pictures of Nodaway County's schools.

The Picture.

It was the privilege of the writer to see the initial production of the picture in Maryville on the evening of the 17th of January. A well filled auditorium of people who paid the price of a regular picture show was prima facie evidence of the interest of the community, and the ripples of applause that greeted the appearance of various schools on the screen indicated that many people from the farther sections of the county were present.

Athletics Popular.

Perhaps the most popular thing in connection with Nodaway schools is the athletics, at least this is indicated by the number of schools that had athletic activities filmed. But in the film there was a pleasing variety. One school showed complete playground equipment which the pupils and the patrons had made, another presented clever mechanical toys that were to function as presents to smaller members of the family at Christmas time, while another showed the barns that housed the faithful Dobbins who were galloping along the road transporting a boy or girl at no expense to the district.

Thus in Nodaway County carrying by visual means the message of better schools, directing the attention of the people to the best, and without preaching is "putting over" the Truth that shall make us free.

STRAWBERRIES BEST SMALL FRUIT FOR HOME GARDENS

Strawberries are so easily handled and require so little room that if only one of the small fruits can be grown in the home garden they should have the preference. New plants for setting out this spring can be purchased at small cost from a nurseryman, or perhaps may be obtained free from a neighbor. In either case, says the United States Department of Agriculture, the bed should contain some plants known as a perfect-blossom variety otherwise the plants of the imperfect-blossom variety in the bed will not be pollinated and consequently will not bear fruit.

Strawberry blossoms are of two kinds. One kind is called perfect, staminate, or male, and the other kind imperfect, pistilate, or female. Some varieties have perfect blossoms. Those with perfect blossoms produce pollen which will fertilize both perfect and imperfect blossoms and enable them to bear fruit. The varieties with imperfect blossoms can not set fruit without receiving pollen from perfect blossoms.

If both kinds are planted there should be at least one row of the perfect-blossom variety to four rows with imperfect blossoms. The nurseryman's catalogue will specify the kind of blossoms. Set the plants early in the spring if possible, so they will get the benefit of the spring rains and make a strong growth. Trim off the dead leaves and all but one or two live ones and cut the roots to 4 or 5 inches long. Spread the roots somewhat and set the plants the same depth in the soil as they were before they were dug. Be especially careful not to set them deeper and not to get earth over the growing crowns, for this will probably kill the plants.

The plants may be grown in hills or in narrow or wide matted rows. For very small areas, plants set in hills close together will no doubt produce the most and large fruit, but will require more care than matted rows. For hill growing, set the plants 1 foot apart in the row and have the rows just far enough apart to cultivate easily, say from 2 to 3 feet; or set two rows a foot apart in double rows and have a space of 2 or 3 feet between the double rows. Keep all runners cut off and give good cultivation, so as to make extra strong plants.

THE SONG OF THE WIND

I am a minstrel wild and free,
I wander to and fro;
Across the land, across the sea,
A vagrant minstrel wild and free,
A-singing as I go.

My harp-strings are the forest trees,
And slender leaves of grass;
With magic hands I pluck at these,
And charm from them strange melodies,
As on my way I pass.

'Tis I who wake the flow'rs in spring,
Beside the woodland ways,
With gentle whisperings and bring
The songsters back, and bid them sing
Their sweet and tuneful lays.

When night doth spread her canopies,
And all the air is calm,
'Tis I who gently stir the trees,
And waft away upon the breeze
The accents of a psalm.

'Tis I who usher in the fall
With many a mournful strain;
'Tis I who sound the trumpet call
When winter marches to enthrall
All nature 'neath his reign.

Across the whole wide world I go;
I wander everywhere;
And when in fitful gusts I blow,
Or breathe in accents soft and low,
There's music in the air.

I am a minstrel wild and free,
I wander to and fro;
Across the land, across the sea,
A vagrant minstrel wild and free,
A-singing as I go.

Cave Bill Puts Hyde in a Dilemma

Of Tax Reduction Measure Is Signed, Appropriations May Suffer; if Vetoed, Dem. Have Thunder

Jefferson City, March 20—Pressure is being brought on Governor Hyde to sign the Cave bill, sponsored by the Democratic caucus, to reduce the state property tax 2 cents. Many Republicans say it would be bad politics to veto the bill, although it probably would force the governor to cut appropriations more than 1 million dollars.

If the governor vetoes the bill the politicians undoubtedly will tell the farmers in the next campaign Hyde refused to reduce their taxes. The governor would hold the sack, although the bill would save the farmer less than $1 a year in state taxes.

Democrats Urge Veto

Probably with the best intentions, some of the Democrats are urging the governor to veto the tax reduction bill to save the appropriations made by the legislature. But the governor, recalling the misrepresentations the last two years on the tax question, will hesitate before following such advice.

The governor has been urged to economize on the supreme court, which has not been too friendly with the Republican administration. If the governor should veto the bill for the four supreme court commissioners, he could save the state $30,000 a year.

Governor Hyde said today he would veto the bill porviding for the four commissioners of the supreme court in place of six only in event the legislature over-appropriated the revenue. Another suggestion has been to save the state about 100,000 by looping off the $3,000 a year paid the supreme court and their commissioners in writing sylabi for their opinions and the extra salary for the judges of three courts of appeals at Kansas City, Springfield and St. Louis.

Institutions Must Suffer

If the tax reduction for the farmers is approved, undoubtedly some of the institutions must suffer. The school for the deaf, the hospital for the insane at Fulton and the state university probably will have to take cuts. A saving of ¼ million dollars might be effected in lopping off the new building for the Springfield Teachers College. The children's home at Carrollton and numerous other state institutions could take small cuts without great injury.

Certain legislative leaders, pandering to the low tax advocates of the rural sections, have come here with the purpose of continuing Missouri in the column of "cheap John" states. That has been a result of making the tax question a political issue, which some of the politicians hope to do again in 1924.

Write-up of Claude Ross in School Paper

Burlington Junction Superintendent Is Said to Be Wide Awake and Versatile.

The Missouri School Journal published at Jefferson City, had the following in a recent issue about Superintendent Claude F. Ross of Burlington Junction:

Burlington Junction has one of the most live and progressive schools in Northwest Missouri. The superintendent, Claude F. Ross, now teaching his second year, is a wide awake and versatile young man of a promising future. He was born and received his common school education in Gentry County, Missouri, and taught in that county for a number of years. He received his higher education at the State Teachers Colleges of Maryville and Warrensburg, together with some advanced work in the University of Missouri. He also had work in the University of Los Angeles, Cal.

That Mr. Ross is a young man of energy and versatility may be evidenced both in what he has done and in the ambitions which he indulges. He has devoted considerable time to the study of journalism, and is now engaged in working out a plan for a school periodical dealing with extra-curricular high school activities. Just how far he will go in his aspirations toward the pleasant though hazardous business of journalism, time will only tell. Superintendent Ross also has had considerable experience in the chantauqua field, both on the platform and on the business side. He is a speaker of no mean ability, and has received very favorable mention in periodicals and from critics who are capable of passing on the merits of the art of lecturing.

Mr. Ross also—another proof of his versatility!—writes poetry. Some of his poetic productions have appeared in the Missouri School Journal in the past, and a number of his poems have been accepted in the American Poetry Magazine, published in Chicago. It can thus be seen that Burlington Junction's school superintendent is an all-around, versatile young man, and will likely be heard from more and more.

The Language of Religion

In writing, speaking, or thinking about any form of religion, it is necessary that certain words be used frequently. The theme of religion is the Diety; being infinite, the Diety has countless attributes. Every time one of the attributes of the Diety is named, a word which is part of the language of religion must be used.

To the one who worships an infinite God, it would seem impossible to separate from the language of everyday affairs those expressions which describe God. Yet a sense of separation has risen in the minds of many. They classify certain words as belonging exclusively to religion, and they carefully avoid using those words in connection with business.

This condition will change when men realize that by maintaining such an attitude they have been shutting out their own good. Business men need to learn:

That meekness is not spinelessness, but that he who would be mighty must first be meek;

That love is not merely a sentiment, but that it is the most powerful magnet that draws and holds prosperity;

That peace is not the inertia of smugness, but that it is a great cleansing force;

That righteousness is not a holier-than-thou cloak which covers a multitude of sins, but that it is merely a right use of man's highest faculties and powers;

That prayer is not mummery, or the vain repetition of futile supplications, but that it is conscious contact with universal power, abundance, harmony, and intelligence;

That salvation does not mean sanctimony, but a very real saving from poverty, from disease, from discord, and from other negative states;

That heaven is not a fanciful place to be attained after everything else has failed, but a very real state of mind which can be acquired by every one, here and now.

With understanding of the real meaning of these and similar words, the language of religion will become the natural way of expressing the most virile things in business.—The Christian Business Man for March.

Home Building Time Will Soon Be Here

DURING THESE EARLY SPRING DAYS is a good time to give serious consideration to the question of Home Buildiing. Nodaway County is recognized as one of the most prosperous counties in the United States, our people are known for their progressive spirit and admired because of their beautiful home surroundings.

We Want to Help You In Your Home Planning

We have hundreds of house plans ready for your inspection and will be glad to give you accurate estimates on the cost of any building you may decide meets your approval.

There is a great deal of building going on throughout the United States and authorities are agreed that there is no chance that building costs will be lower within the next few months and the general belief is that these costs must increase within the next two years.

But there is one thing to take into consideration when you compare the price charged now for a modern house with the cost of the house your father built twenty-five or thirty years ago— we insist on full basements, on bath rooms, water and sewer connections, furnaces, electric lights and many other modern necessities that were not even thought of a half century ago. And it is these modern conveniences that make the greater part of the increased cost of building. As a matter of fact we get more for our money than we used to.

Maybe a house similar to the one shown here comes pretty nearly to your idea of a home. We can plan any alterations you may desire and we then can tell you just what the house will cost ready for you to move into and start housekeeping.

Let us talk the matter over with you at your convenience.

A Popular Type of Modern Small House

That prevalent high costs failed to stop building operations in the United States last year, thereby proving the falsity of the many pessimistic predictions made, is proved by reports for 1922 gathered from more than two hundred cities of the country. These statistics show that 1922 was a banner year for builders and that the number of homes constructed was greater than in any previous year.

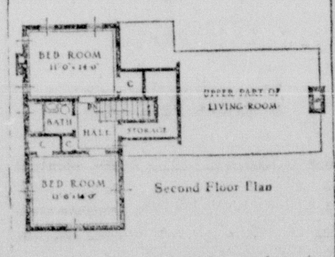
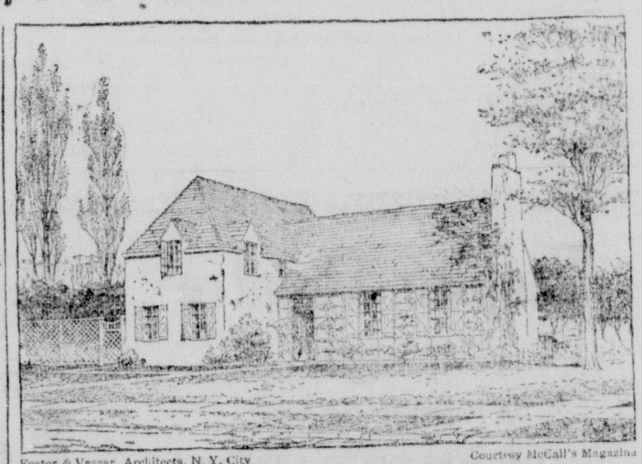
Chicago, with the greatest year of building achievement in its history, stands first among leading cities with great gains in building projects during the year. The figures warrant an estimate for 1922 of $3,828,000,000 worth of planned buildings or nearly $1,000,000,000 more than ever before reported.



Next to Chicago, which scored a gain of $88,000,000 over the preceding year, the most active building centres were Philadelphia, with a gain of $71,400,000; New York City, with $63,000,000; Los Angeles, $38,000,000; Detroit, $35,000,000 and Boston, $32,500,000.



Foster & Vassar, Architects, N. Y. City — Courtesy McCall's Magazine

Small House Is Popular

The small house, with modifications to suit climate and the individual tastes of the owner, proved the most popular type of construction among home builders. Architects and contractors report that the builders of small homes are insisting upon equipping their houses with all modern devices common to apartment houses in the larger cities. The competent housewife has become enamoured with the small house, because she has found it easier to manage if chance or necessity make it "a servantless home."

Architects also report that in line with the demand for labor-saving equipment there is also a heavy demand for materials that reduce fire hazard. Experience has shown that fire resistant building materials are also time and weather resistant. Where every cent counts in building a home and the cost is spread over a number of years, the fact that the roof, for instance, may have to be replaced in a decade must be considered. The insurance rate is an added consideration and when lower rates may be obtained by using fire-safe roofing materials those materials are demanded. Brick and stucco houses, with roofs of asphalt shingles, have been shown to be more extensively used of late, on account of their greater durability and fire-resistant qualities. A few decades ago, when timber was more plentiful and less expensive, roofing problems did not call for the great consideration they do today. Fire laws in various municipalities were not as stringent then as they now are and the costs of fire-resistant material, compared with wood, were high. In this day, initial cost is not proportionately higher and the first cost is practically wiped out in the saving through the lower maintenance and the lower insurance rates in effect where approved fire-proof material is used in roof construction.

The accompanying sketch of a popular type of small house shows how a home can be built of fire-resistant and weather-proof materials at comparatively low cost.

Bolckow Man Gets Top Price

At the first day of the sixth annual Hereford round-up in Kansas City yesterday, the top price received was $190, paid by A. H. Schmidt of Kansas City for Buster Blanchard, a bull calf sired by Beau Blanchard 97th and Lass of All 38th, offered by W. S. Miller of Bolckow. One hundred and nineteen head of purebred yearlings and calves were sold at the low average price of about $85 a head. There were few buyers, the storms of Saturday night and Sunday preventing many from arriving for the opening day.

Tomorrow doesn't exist—don't worry,
Yesterday is gone—forget it;
Today is here—use it;
The reality of life is happiness;

The delusion of life which we ourselves create by improper balance and imperfect comprehension of our own powers must need cause sorrow, because in such self deception we only see the truth just as a person born into this world blind may vaguely guess at the beauty of a beautiful day in spring.

Remember the old saying, If March comes in like a lamb she goes out like a lion, well I guess this is one time the rule will hold true.

We regret to say that five of our pupils were absent Monday. The absentees were, Dorris, Clifford, Maxine and Mildred Walker and Marjorie Merriett. The absences were caused by the terrible snow drifts which were heaped high in the road between their homes and the school. We expect to have a perfect attendance the rest of the week.

Frank Nicholas of District No. 71 was vaccinating his hogs Monday. Mr. Nicholas believes in safety first.

Mr. and Mrs. McAlpine and daughter, Lucile, of Creston, Iowa were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Nicholas, Jr., for the past week.

Miss Nell Harvey of Burlington Junction, Mo., has returned to her home from a weeks visit with friends and relatives at Maryville.

COUNTY FARM AGENTS ADVOCATED FOR HAWAII

Honolulu, March 20—Recommendations that a system of county farm agents similar to those in America be established in connection with the University of Hawaii, at the expense of the Territory, are contained in a report submitted to Governor Wallace R. Farrington by a committee of university professors on the marketing of Hawaiian produce.

Such a system prevailed in the island during the war but since was abandoned. It is particularly designed to render assistance to homesteaders and small farmers.

Albert Horner, Territorial sugar expert, has recommended also to the Governor that he be supplied with an assistant on each of the islands of the Hawaiian group.

It is likely that the two recommendations will be merged and submitted to the Legislature for action at its forthcoming session this Spring.

TAX EXEMPT HOMES SOLVE HONOLULU HOUSE PROBLEM.

Honolulu, March 20.—Honolulu's housing shortage has become a thing of the past, according to statistics made public by Louis S. Cain, city and county building inspector. In 1910 the average number of persons per house was 5.8. By the end of 1921 these figures had been reduced to 5.1. A still greater decrease was reported last year. Widespread erection of new homes has resulted from enactment of an exemption bill granting tax exemption to house owners.

JOY OF HEALTH WOMAN'S RIGHT

Mrs. Evans Freed from Female Weakness by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Detroit, Michigan.—"I had female weakness with pains in my back, and I could not stand on my feet for any length of time. I was working in a factory but had to quit as I was too much on my feet. A friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to me, and I can hardly believe it myself that I am well. Oh, it is a grand thing to have your health! I feel well all the time and can go out like other women and not feel that awful torture. When I took your medicine first I thought it should cure after the first bottle, but I am glad my husband kept me at it. I have had nine bottles and now I am well."—Mrs. JENNY EVANS, 1604 Lafayette Blvd., Detroit, Michigan.

If you are suffering from displacements, irregularities, backache, nervousness or other forms of female weakness, you should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

The reason is given in letters like these, and we have published thousands of them. You may expect that a medicine that has helped other women will help you. Try it.

Monster Masonic Meeting at St. Joe

Will Be Held on Friday, March 30—Many to Go From Maryville.

The twenty Royal Arch Chapters of Northwest Missouri, including the chapters of Kansas City, will do honor to Dr. Wm. F. Kuhn of Kansas City, General Grand High Priest of the General Grand Chapter of the United States of America, by holding a Joint Convocation in the St. Joseph Auditorium, Third and Faraon streets, Friday, March 30, 1923. Many will go from Maryville.

Dr. Kuhn is the head of the largest organized Masonic body in the world, and is the author of the ritual as promulgated by the General Grand Chapter, which ritual will be exemplified at this meeting in the conferring of the Past and Most Excellent degrees, in the most dignified, spectacular and elaborate manner. The caste will comprise a male chorus of two hundred voices, soloists; corps of trumpeters; two bands and three hundred men gorgeously robed participating in the ceremonies and formalities. The work will be conferred on more than three hundred candidates coming from all chapters in Northwest Missouri. The doors of the Auditorium will open at 6 p. m., and from that hour until 7:30 o'clock, the members will be entertained by a band concert given by Moila Shrine band of St. Joseph and Ivanhoe band of Kansas City and full templar drills by Kansas City Commandery and Oriental Commandery of Kansas City.

The Grand Master of the Grand Lodge will be present, as well as the presiding officers of the other Grand Bodies of Missouri, together with distinguished Masonic dignitaries from the adjoining states.

The entire atmosphere and surroundings of the Auditorium will be arranged and equipped in such manner as to correctly portray the ancient ceremony of the completion and dedication of King Solomon's Temple.

The finale will be a patriotic tableau staged by members of Wyandotte chapter of Kansas City, Kansas, under the personal supervision of Excellent Companion A. H. Strickland, 32nd K. C. C. H.

All Royal Arch Masons are invited to attend this meeting and will be admitted on presentation of card.

OLD CITY LAWS, DATING BACK TO 1742, FORBID SUNDAY WORK AND DRINK.

Lancaster, Pa., March 20.—Laborers in clearing out an old vault in the City Hall here accidentally discovered several volumes containing the minutes of Lancaster's burgesses, dating from 1742 down to 1818, when the charter, under which the city now operates, was obtained. They are of great historical value.

According to the borough ordinance, dated 1743, any person drinking in Lancaster on Sunday was fined one shilling six pence. An ordinance dated 1744 included a provision forbidding galloping of horses through the streets and also prohibited unnecessary work on Sabbath Day, except in the case of butchers.

A clause in the borough ordinance dated 1745 named a penalty of ten shillings for persons allowing flames to issue from the chimneys of their homes when the flues were on fire. The ancient records, which are highly prized by the older citizens, have been placed in charge of the Lancaster Historical Society officials.

Charley Booze was appointed administrator of the estate of Florence S. Hook, who died March 9 at Hopkins.

George W. Somerville of Chillicothe was in Maryville today visiting his brother, Leslie G. Somerville, county superintendent of schools.

Reading of "Disraeli" A Rare Treat for the Audience Which Half Filled the State Teachers College Auditorium Last Night

The reading of the play "Disraeli" by Edward Abner Thompson of Boston, last night at the State Teachers College was by far one of the treats of the season. Mr. Thompson held his audience, which half filled the College auditorium, spellbound throughout the three acts. His portrayal of the various characters was exceedingly good and his voice, full and resonant, was more than pleasing.

Although totally blind he gave the reading of the play in such a manner that this was not noticed and instead of seeing the reader those in the audience saw the different characters of the play as he portrayed them.

The reading was given under the auspices of the State Teachers College Dramatics Club. Mr. Thompson was introduced by Miss Blanche Dow, faculty advisor of the club, who said that it was the purpose of the club to bring, annually, a reader of national repute to Maryville. Certainly the selection of Mr. Thompson for the first reading was well made.

At a special assembly of the College student body this morning at 9 o'clock Mr. Thompson read Tennyson's "Vision of Sir Launfal" which was just as good as the play which he read last night.

Democrats Put Out A Strong Ticket

Washington Township Democratic Ticket Is a Good One—Democrats Urged to Support It.

The Democrats of Washington township met in convention in Guilford Saturday afternoon and nominated the following men for the various township offices:

Assessor—Walter C. Giffin.

Collector—Edward Whorton.

Trustee—John E. Todd.

Members of the township board—John Q. Beggs and James A. Wilson.

Contsable—Charles M. Noland.

Justices of Peace—W. F. Davies and Henry Richards.

The Democrats of the township feel with the above named ticket they have the strongest list of candidates they have had in many years, as every candidate is a man of high type and capable of the office he has been selected for.

The Democratic leaders especially urge that all the Democrats of the township turn out and support the ticket, as the party is to be congratulated on such an efficient ticket.

A marriage license was issued today to John J. Scowden of Barnard and Emma M. Hoshor of Maryville.

Track Work Is Under Way at the College

Paul Farmer Sustains Broken Nose Cartilage When Baseball Strikes Him

Track practice is under full sway at the State Teachers College. Coach Maynor has a squad of about twenty men out every day and he is giving them some indoor work that is fast putting them into shape.

The exercises which he is giving his men tend to loosen all of the tight muscles and build up those that are not generally used.

The daily program usually consists of about fifteen minutes of loosening up exercises followed by a slow run of a mile or so. In the work the coach does not sit on the side lines and direct the men. Instead he leads them and does not ask them to do anything that he himself will not undertake.

Paul Farmer, a student at the State Teachers College sustained a painful injury yesterday afternoon in the gymnasium at the college when he was struck by a baseball which broke the cartilage in his nose.

Farmer was "warming up" with some of the baseball men and a foul ball struck him in the nose. The boys were having batting practice and one of the candidates for the squad just hit about half of a pitched ball and as a result Farmer was the recipient of the full force of the blow.

Daugherty Utterance of No Great Interest

Democratic Chairman Says Haste to Proclaim Harding's Candidacy Significant.

Washington, March 20—Characterizing Attorney General Daugherty's announcement of President Harding's candidacy for a second term as one which will have "little or no effect upon the national political situation in either party," Chairman Hull of the democratic national committee issued the following statement:

"The semiofficial announcement by Attorney General Daugherty that President Harding will be a candidate for renomination is of small interest as news as compared with the reasons for making the announcement at this time.

"If the President Harding had only risen to the level of an ordinary president, it would have been taken for granted that the party would renominate him. The doubt concerning his renomination has been raised by the fact that his administration to date has been the most conspicuous failure of any in the twenty-nine national administrations. With this fact confronting them, the progressive element in the republican party as well as conservatives of sound political judgment long ago realized that Mr. Harding could not be re-elected, and began to look for another candidate. The failure of the Harding administration was demonstrated and emphasized by the repudiation given it at the polls last November.

"The reactionary supporters of the president, largely confined to the office holding and office seeking classes, evidently realized that if Mr. Harding was to be renominated something would have to be done to revive interest in him, which was fast waning, and also to suppress those party leaders who are rapidly deserting the Harding cause in search of another candidate. Hence the announcement of the Harding candidacy by the president's closest personal friend and most influential political adviser, Attorney General Daugherty. Hence, too, the president's announced plan for a speechmaking tour of the country.

"The announcement of Attorney General Daugherty will have little or no effect upon the national political situation in either party. One of the outstanding issues in the 1924 campaign will be the record of omission and commission of the Harding administration, whether Mr. Harding heads the ticket or not, on this issue the democratic party is ready now to go to bat."

A dinner for the employes of the post office was given last evening at the post office by James Todd, postmaster. The dinner was prepared and served by Clarence C. Baker and Charles L. Martin. The newly appointed postmaster, John F. Hull, was the guest of honor. It is expected Mr. Hull will take charge within the next few days.

The employes of the office are: assistant postmaster, Fred H. French, Eldon W. Irvin, Louis M. Grems, Ernest F. Welborn, Harold K. Booth, Otis Gault, E. T. Dale, J. C. Updegraff, John S. C. Spickerman, Gerald Whaley, Howard Watson, Leonard Gray, Ira Bailey, Albert Williams, Dale Bailey, F. L. Stamper, Herman Barton, Frank McKenzie, John C. White, Lee Auffert, Raymond Barry and C. C. Your Health is at Stake if You Suffer from Constipation!

Every man, woman and child who has constipation or constipation symptoms should leave no stone unturned to get instant relief! Keep away from the dangers of pills and catharties, which are almost as much to be dreaded as constipation itself. Your physician will recommend Kellogg's Bran because it is ALL BRAN—and it is Kellogg's Bran that will give permanent relief if eaten regularly.

Most cases of Bright's and diabetes can be traced to constipation; in its milder form constipation is responsible for sick headache, nausea, pimples, sour breath, etc. And, we say right here—and guarantee what we say—that Kellogg's Bran, if eaten regularly, will give you permanent relief.

Kellogg's Bran is wonderful as a food as well as wonderful as a natural means of relieving constipation. Kellogg's Bran contains important mineral salts; it contains elements that are necessary in making bone, tissue and blood—yet, it acts as a sweeper, cleanser and purifier.

Eat Kellogg's Bran as a cereal. You'll enjoy its nut-like flavor. Or, sprinkle it on or mix it with hot or cold cereals. Many like it cooked with hot cereals. Two tablespoonfuls of bran should be added in each instance. You have missed much not to have eaten Kellogg's Bran made into muffins, raisin bread or many other bakery batches. Recipes on every package. Prominent hotels, restaurants and clubs serve Kellogg's Bran in individual packages. All grocers sell Kellogg's Bran.
